Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments filed August 13, 2009, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 6-9 have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection. The new grounds of rejection are necessitated by the added limitations that the third section contacts a clutch (claim 6 line 15).

Applicant argues that the reinforcement member (13) of Japan 2003-42185 extends radially into the root of the lip 12a; but does not extend axially from the third section (11b) into the root. The examiner disagrees. The reinforcement member (13) extends radially from the second section into the root of the lip 12a; and extends axially from the third section into the root. The axial extension appears to be smaller than the radial extension, but nonetheless, there is axial extension.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claims 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Japan 2003-42185. Japan 2003-42185 discloses a piston (11, fig 2) axially movable in an annular hole comprising a piston main body including a second axial section extending axially from an outer diameter end section of a first radial section; a third section (11b) extending in a radially outward direction from an end section on a side of the axial section and contacting a clutch (5a); a reinforcement member (13) provided on the outer periphery of and fitted over an entire area of the axial section; a sealing member (11a) provided on the reinforcement member, having a seal lip (12a) for sealing the outer peripheral side surface of the annular hole; wherein the reinforcement member includes a section that extends to a root of the seal lip; and an inner peripheral sealing member

Art Unit: 3745

(in fig 3), sealing an inner peripheral surface side of the annular hole; wherein either the sealing member and the inner peripheral sealing member are integrally formed on the main body, after the reinforcement member is fitted to the main body or where the sealing member is formed integrally on the reinforcement member and the reinforcement member is fitted to the main body after the integral forming (it is not clear which is how it is formed).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
